Bart's simple idea -

produce a kind of mini-paper only about folk psychologies phrasal.

What wd philosophy of mind look like if you were from a Pythagorean background with an opacity doctrine?

Data easy to collect? Google "Hobbs that".

Variety - Relatively profound differences between cultures,
g. 40 dedicated mental state words
but are talking about what I wd think of
as beliefs by using "say"

Are the practices systematic? Is there an underlying framework?

Are the underlying frameworks explicit in the sense that ppl can talk about them?

Relⁿ between theoretical pragmatics + f.p.

↳ where belief + intention are central notions.

Is this the foundation of belief, or of intention?

1. What variety is there?

2. What are the consequences?

! of there being more than one

Linguistics: The Promissive Gap: nearly all languages have a special form for questions, but nearly always promising is done using a declarative form. So there are not grammatical markers to distinguish promises from assertions.
