

interagential interactions involving communication about psychological things systematic characterisation s of principles implicit in these interactions interagential interactions

theories
of the capacities
that explain how
these interactions are possible

theories
of the capacities
that explain how
this larger set of
interactions are
possible

systematic characterisation s of principles capacities for social interaction implicit in these interactions patterns of social interaction interagential interactions regulatory goals involving communication normative ideals about psychological things ethical needs legal opportunities ...

THE ORTHODOX VIEW

